Animals rarely show emotions. If a female wolf insecurely makes contact with strange wolves, when she hunts confidently or slowly wastes away, then music reinforces what our eyes perceive. The music of Oliver Heuss, empathically composed, quaintly arranged and ingeniously mixed, supports the opulent pictures and captivating scenes. Enhances them with a light tone, without distorting them. The right measure has been found. At the same time the music arouses our curiosity, our longing for the exotic highlands of Ethiopia. The music achieves an unobtrusive geographical embedding without drifting off into stereotypes
