„Saving Planet Earth – Fixing a Hole“

Director and Cinematography: Jamie Lochhead

Production: David Dugan

A Windfall Filmproduction for Channel 4 & PBS

Just imagine you were asked to name your personal environment and conservation hero! Would you be thinking of Ronald Reagan and Margaret Thatcher of all people? No? Well, think again!

The dramatic story of the hole in the ozone layer, its discovery, and the determined action of a handful of scientists with the right politicians at the right moment is told in a film that wins the audience over through impressive archive footage, interviews with contemporary protagonists and above all a surprising amount of humour. The award Best Science Film goes to “Saving Planet Earth – Fixing a Hole” by Jamie Lochhead.
